Light Profile Crane System

Freestanding cranes are particularly useful when the roof cannot support an overhead crane.

The bridge profile is usually reinforced to achieve longer spans and un-reinforced runway track profiles can be used by supporting them directly to an I beam that runs parallel above.

Ceiling mounted cranes are useful where the floor space is limited. Since the cranes are directly mounted on the ceiling and no supporting columns are necessary the working floors are kept clear for their operations.

However, it requires an adequate ceiling structure. Un-reinforced runways can be used when the distance between supports is small or by utilizing I-beams or other structures at the ceiling.
